UNFAVORABLE OUTLOOK.

YELLOW FEVER GAINS GROUND IN JACKSONVILLE.

Twenty-Three New Victims Reported in a Single Day—The Citizens' Auxiliary Association Complain Against the Order to Detain All Refugees.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—A dispatch from Jacksonville says: The yellow fever continues to spread rapidly, and there is a wholesale exodus of those people not yet affected. Thursday there were twenty-three new victims and three deaths. It is expected that over two thousand people will get out of town this week.

Surgeon General Hamilton has received the following telegram from J. J. Danile, president of the Jacksonville Citizens' Auxiliary association: "In the name of our people and humanity, I protest against the order for the detention of all refugees from our city and state at the refugee camp. It would be better for us to keep our women and children here rather than subject them to such treatment."

Dr. Hamilton sent the following reply: "Telegram received. Your requisition for 200 tents was approved. You are mistaken as to the character of the camp, which is in charge of one of the most humane officers in the service, and none in the country stands higher as to professional ability. The camp is located in one of the healthiest places in Florida pine woods, on a river bluff, originally intended by the railroad company as picnic grounds, and taken by Dr. Guiteras as the best place for his camp."

"He was some days ago directed to have some tents set apart a quarter of a mile distant from the main camp, for observation of persons sick. Pollard, returned to Jacksonville, was sick on arrival at camp; evidently had fever when he left Jacksonville. With the general spread of the disease in Jacksonville it is useless to expect that persons should be allowed to mingle on outgoing trains. Special excursion trains will be provided for passengers to definite points."

"Murphy, in North Carolina, has opened its doors, the only place so reporting itself to me. If residents wish to go to Murphy, or any definite point in western North Carolina, on their parole not to go to seaboard or quarantined towns within ten days from date of departure from Jacksonville, excursion trains will be forwarded as soon as number of trains required can be definitely ascertained. Please estimate number of people now in Jacksonville, willing to go, or people that safe arrangements can be made for transportation."

Dr. Hamilton sent a dispatch to Governor Perry, informing him that the general removal of quarantine regulations would simply spread the disease and render useless existing measures of relief.

BRITTON'S TRIAL.

The Defendant Committed to Jail Without Bail.

HILLSBORO, O. Sept. 1.—The preliminary trial of Marion Britton, who shot his brother-in-law, John Brown, on the 4th of this month, the wounds proving fatal on the 21st, occurred yesterday before Squire Henry H. Maddox. Physicians testified as to the position of Brown when they reached the office of the Parker house, where he was shot, the character of the wounds, etc. Robert Johnson, an eye-witness, saw Britton come down street. Brown was sitting in a chair in front of the Parker house.

Britton walked close to the buildings until nearly opposite Brown, when he took a revolver from his pocket made two steps toward Brown and fired one shot, which took effect in his victim's side. Brown arose from the chair and staggered into the Parker house office. Britton followed and fired again, when Brown fell. F. D. Frye and Cyrus Nordyke, also eye-witnesses, testified substantially to the same facts.

Squire Maddox immediately committed the prisoner to jail without bail.

A CINCINNATI DETECTIVE KILLED.

He Meets His Fate in Chicago While Following a Crook.

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—P. M. Van Antwerp, a Cincinnati detective, was found lying at the corner of Lake and Franklin, about 1 Thursday night, with his skull crushed in. It was learned that Van Antwerp has been following Frank Kline, alias Julius Huston, a notorious train robber, for several months, and only found him Thursday night at the corner Lake and Franklin. When Van Antwerp attempted to arrest him, Kline struck him with some blunt instrument, fracturing his skull, and made good his escape. On the 12th of July last Van Antwerp attempted to arrest Kline in Monticello, Ill., and was badly wounded by a pistol shot.

Woman Beater Shot and Killed.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 1.—Frank Standiford, son of the late millionaire, E. D. Standiford, once president of the Louisville & Nashville railroad, shot and killed Daniel Walker, a teamster here last night. Walker had been beating a woman of ill repute and pursued her to the street, where he struck her several times. Standiford and Charles Patton were standing near the saloon from which Walker came, and as Walker turned away, Standiford shot him in the back. Standiford and Patton were both arrested.

Idaho Republicans.

BOISE CITY, Idaho, Sept. 1.—The Republican territorial convention held in Hailey renominated Fred T. Dubois for delegate in congress unanimously. The platform stands by the test oath and denounces the Mormons and declares in favor of protection on lead.

A Virginia Mastodon.

WYTHEVILLE, Va., Sept. 1.—Master Melbourne Grubb, well fed youth of ten summers, is growing up in this vicinity. He has already attained an attitude of sixty-two inches, measures forty-seven inches around the waist, and weighs 210 pounds.

Instantly Killed By the Cars.

AKRON, O., Sept. 1.—F. Farnes, an aged farmer, residing in Tallmadge township, was struck, on Tuesday afternoon, by the east-bound turntable on the New York, Pennsylvania & Ohio railroad, near Tallmadge Center, and instantly killed.

WASHINGTON.

Congress May Adjourn in September.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—The action of the Republican senatorial caucus, Thursday night, is generally believed, will hold good the statement made by Senator Ingalls, three or four weeks ago, that congress would adjourn before the 20th of September.

The Republican senators say a tariff bill will go upon the calendar on Tuesday or Wednesday a week, which will be the 11th or 12th of September. The elections in the east will then be over. It is conceded on both sides of the senate that it takes at least two months to discuss the tariff if a bill is considered before the election, as every senator will want to speak at least once and many of them a half dozen times. If the bill is not taken up until the elections are over, there will be no object in talking and the measure can be disposed of in ten days or two weeks.

Republicans have proclaimed that they are perfectly willing to remain here and keep congress in session continually, if the Democrats want them to do so, as quite as much campaign refugeance can be shed from Washington through daily congressional proceedings as can be thrown out by senators and representatives on the stump, while the physical efforts and financial outlay will be much less. In consideration of these facts, the belief is general that both parties will agree to an adjournment, at least until the November elections are over, within a week after the tariff bill goes on the senate calendar.

The Cotton Bagging Trust.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—The house committee on manufactures investigating the subject of trusts, began an inquiry into the alleged cotton bagging trust.

Anderson Grant, of St. Louis, a member of the bagging and cotton tie firm of Warren Jones & Gratz, having a large branch manufactory at Muncie, testified that there are now but eight firms in the country engaged in the manufacture of cotton bagging and ties against fifteen at this time last year.

The output of cotton bagging in 1887 was about 45,000,000 yards and the variation in the prices of two pound bagging was from ten and three-fourths cents in 1877 to eleven and three-fourths cents in 1880 and seven and one-fourth cents in 1887. He said that the cotton crop of this year would require about forty-five million five hundred thousand yards of bagging and it was expected that the total output of all the American mills would be over fifty million yards.

There were, he said, considerable quantities of cotton bagging coming to this country, but he did not think the foreign mills would be able to bring sufficient to the country this year to prevent the sale of that held here, as contractors abroad have their hands full.

A Stricken Vessel Allowed to Pass.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—Collector of Customs Caldwell, of Philadelphia, was at the treasury department, and reported to the secretary that a vessel from the West Indies, loaded with sugar, had been allowed to pass quarantine and land at her dock in Philadelphia Thursday, though five deaths from yellow fever had occurred on board. The matter will be investigated.

Low Water Causes an Explosion.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 1.—The boiler of Uhl's saw mill, located ten miles north of this city, near Sherman, exploded Thursday afternoon, killing N. M. Richard, a well known resident of this city, aged forty-four, William Martin, the engineer, aged twenty-two, and mortally wounding William Yeom, aged twenty-two. Richard was blown 200 yards and his body was horribly mutilated. Martin was blown 150 yards, but was not disfigured. Yeom was taken out of the debris. His jaw is broken and a leg crushed. He is also injured internally. Richard leaves a family. Low water in the boiler was the cause of the explosion.

Davenport Merchants Complain.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Sept. 1.—The most important proceedings yet begun under the general provisions of the new railroad law were announced Thursday by forty-four of the jobbers, manufacturers and business men of Davenport against the Rock Island and St. Paul roads. The suits are commenced before the state railroad commissioners under Section 18 of the general railroad law, which provides that on complaint of any firm, person or class of persons that the rates charged by the company are too high, the commissioners shall give all parties a hearing and fix a rate to be thereafter charged.

The Mob Had No Leader.

ASHLAND, Wis., Sept. 1.—Early Thursday morning a crowd of nearly two hundred men gathered within a few blocks of the county jail, where Dan Ritchie, the murderer of William Amrine, is confined, and were all ready for the signal to make a rush for the jail, when Sheriff Green advised them that he had twelve deputies inside the bars who would shoot to kill if any man attempted to enter. The mob thereupon dispersed, because no one of sufficient courage could be found to take the lead against the force in the jail.

Deaf Mutes in Convention.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 1.—At Thursday's session of the deaf mute convention the following officers were elected: President, F. L. Selnoff, Rome; first vice president, J. F. O'Brien, of New York; second vice president, John Acker, of Rochester; secretary, Thomas F. Fox, of New York; treasurer, J. H. Eddy, of Rome. In the evening the members of the commission were entertained at lunch by Professor Westervelt, of the Western New York institute, and spent some time in social intercourse.

Now Let's See What She Can Do.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Coal has at last been provided for the steel cruiser Boston, which has been at the Brooklyn navy yard so long, and she will be sent to sea Monday to test her guns. Capt. P. W. Ramsay, who was formerly superintendent of the Annapolis Naval academy, is in command, and a board of gunnery experts will go on the vessel to witness the trial of the new guns. The Boston may remain in the lower bay for some days, as Capt. Ramsay will not fire his long range guns except on a perfectly clear day, when all chances of sinking vessels in the vicinity can be avoided.

DEEP WATER CONVENTION.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED AT THE MEETING IN DENVER.

Western States and Territories Demand, For the Good of the Country, That a Deep Water Port Be Built on the Northwest Coast of the Gulf of Mexico.

DENVER, Col., Sept. 1.—The resolutions adopted by the deep water convention, as reported by the committee, are as follows:

"WHEREAS, It is the sense of the states of Texas, Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri, Iowa, Arkansas, California and Nevada and of the territories of New Mexico, Wyoming, Utah, Arizona, Dakota and Indian Territory, in convention assembled at Denver, Col., under the call of his excellency, Alva Adams, governor of the state of Colorado, that commercial, agricultural, mining, manufacturing and stock interests of all that part of the United States lying west of the Mississippi river, and the commercial and naval advantages of our sea country generally, demands a permanent deep water port on the northwest coast of the Gulf of Mexico. Therefore, be it

"RESOLVED, That the senators and representatives in congress from the states heretofore referred to and the delegates from the territories herein set forth, be, and they are hereby most earnestly requested to procure at once a permanent available appropriation of the amount necessary to secure a deep water port on the northwest coast of the Gulf of Mexico, west of 93 1-2 degrees west longitude, capable of admitting the largest vessels and at which the best and most accessible harbor can be secured and maintained in the shortest possible time and at the least cost.

"That for the carrying into effect of the foregoing resolutions, committees to consist of five from each state and three from each territory representation in this convention, be appointed by their respective delegations. That it shall be the duty of said committees to see that the object of said resolutions be properly presented and vigorously urged before congress; and to that end and with the view of co-operation and concert of action the chairman of the respective committees shall be and they are hereby constituted and created a central committee.

"RESOLVED, That the states and territories and commercial bodies represented in this convention approve the idea of securing deep water on the gulf coast of Texas by a private capital, and they do hereby respectfully request their senators and representatives and delegates in congress to labor in this behalf.

"WHEREAS, The need of a deep harbor on the coast of the Gulf of Mexico directly and vitally affects nearly one-fourth of the people of the United States. We deem the requests contained in the foregoing resolutions of such great and paramount importance as to justify their early reference to the official notice of the president of the United States in order that he may be duly and fully informed, and be able, as contemplated in the constitution of the United States, to give congress information of the state of the Union and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient. Therefore, be it

"RESOLVED, That a copy of the foregoing resolutions be transmitted to the president, and that he be requested to make his annual message to the congress of the United States such recommendations with reference to the location of a deep water harbor on the Gulf of Mexico as to him shall seem proper and expedient."

National W. C. T. U.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—The fifteenth annual meeting of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union, Miss Francis E. Willard, president, will be held in the Metropolitan opera house, this city, October 19 to 21. The convention will number 400 delegates from every state and territory in the United States, representing 10,000 local auxiliaries and more than two hundred thousand members. Forty departments of work will be reviewed under the heads of preventive, educational, evangelistic, legal and the department of organization. A large representation of southern ladies will be in attendance.

The Penalty of Political Desertion.

LONGVIEW, Tex., Sept. 1.—The body of Harrison Spencer, the local colored politician who was forcibly taken from his home a few nights ago by a masked band of Ku Klux, supposed to be composed mainly of members of his own race, because he had deserted the Union Labor party, which is very strong among the colored people of east Texas, and announced his intention to support the Republican presidential ticket and the Democratic state and local tickets, was found hanging to a tree in a bad state of decomposition.

No Epidemic at Caldwell.

CALDWELL, O., Sept. 1.—There have been in all probability forty cases of sickness in Caldwell since last April. Mrs. Joseph Caldwell died of old age. A little child of Theo. Foreman died of debility. Mr. Lanam, the auditor of this county, died of fever; his wife of puerperal fever; Win Martin, an old printer, of consumption. The foregoing mentioned includes the deaths in Caldwell since the time first mentioned. We have had some fever in this town as in towns all around us. The thing is a canard.

Murdered by a Merchant in His Own Store.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 1.—At West Louisville, a small town near Owensboro, James Hardesty, a merchant, shot and killed William Murphy, a well-to-do farmer. They had been old friends. Hardesty called Murphy into his store, and a few moments later a shot was heard and a groan, and people going in found Murphy dying. Hardesty was placed in jail. He refused to give any reason.

Is It Murder or Suicide?

EAU CLAIRE, Wis., Sept. 1.—A. F. Wilbur, a prominent and wealthy business man, was shot in the rooms of his mistress, Mattie Manning Thursday afternoon. She says that in a fit of jealousy he stepped in front of a mirror, placed the revolver in his mouth and fired. He is dying. The woman is in jail on suspicion. Wilbur refused to make any statement. He leaves five children.

A MOCK MARRIAGE VOID.

They Don't Love Each Other, But They're Man and Wife, Nevertheless.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Some friends of William Fearing Gill and Miss Gwynne deny that steps are being taken for a divorce, because they say it is not necessary. One of them affirms that the true story of the marriage is this:

"A few minutes after Miss Gwynne and Gill had laughingly gone through the mock ceremony, Miss Gwynne came in, and upon being told of the ceremony, went and bought a gold ring, saying: 'Why, that's no way, use a ring.' The ceremony was then gone through again, the ring being used. Shortly after Gill left the house, going home. Two days after Gill mentioned the events in fun to a friend, a well known lawyer, who astonished him by asserting the wedding ring made a valid marriage."

"He and Miss Gwynne decided to let the matter rest until the return of Vanderbilt. Unfortunately it leaked out. Why, they don't care a straw about each other! In fact, Miss Gwynne has been engaged to a Montreal gentleman for a year and a half. Neither cares to have the ceremony held good, and I know there will be no church ceremony. The pair are in a serious pickle, however."

WHOLESALE RESIGNATION.

Trouble in the Camp of the O. N. G. at Columbus.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 1.—There is an unpleasantness in the state encampment of the National guard Adj. Gen. Axline, who assumed command of the camp, Thursday evening, issued an order directing the use of the flys from the militia tents to cover the horses. This left the Eighth regiment without protection.

The officers were indignant, and the colonel, two majors, seven captains and fourteen lieutenants all resigned. They held an indignation meeting and used some pretty severe language toward the superiors. Great efforts were made to keep the matter quiet, and to this end the resignations were not accepted, the officers agreeing to serve until the end of the encampment.

Ohio's Ancient Order United Workmen.

HAMILTON, O., Sept. 1.—The Ohio state lodge of the Ancient Order United Workmen, in session here, elected the following: Master workman, F. H. Killinger, Massillon; foreman, D. P. Mallor, Demarest; overseer, D. B. Gurry, Zanesville; recorder, A. T. Hoover, Cincinnati; resolver, John S. Charga, Dayton; guide, D. D. Barnes, Columbus; inside watchman, D. J. Mudge, Cleveland; outside watchman, Charles Howard, Hamilton; medical inspector, Dr. Moore, Folland; trustees, John V. Hess, Cincinnati; Charles Steig, Columbus; H. V. Bacon, Toledo; supreme representatives, L. A. Justice, Youngstown; J. W. Henderson, Lynchburg; H. Brumback, Toledo. The next session will be held in Toledo, on the fourth Tuesday in August, 1889.

She Was Suspected of Theft.

COLUMBUS, Ga., Sept. 1.—At a camp-meeting near Geneva Miss Martha Green lost $700 in gold and greenbacks. A colored woman named Harriet Davis is one of three colored people arrested, suspected of having committed the crime. While Harriet was in charge of Deputy Sheriff Richards a crowd of disguised men compelled Mr. Richards to surrender her, and taking her to a pine thicket near the camp grounds, where there were nearly two thousand people, tied her up and administered a most fearful beating with the lash to extort from her a confession of the theft. After this cruel treatment, the girl protesting her innocence, she was returned to the sheriff, who lodged her in jail with the other suspected parties.

Suddenly Changed His Mind.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Sept. 1.—Chief Twigg received a visit Wednesday from an irate mother-in-law who wanted to lay her hands on her son-in-law, who eloped with another girl the day after his marriage to her own daughter. Jim Stringer about two weeks ago married Emma Allen, and the next day he disappeared and has not been heard from, but he has been found in Atlanta, having eloped with another girl. The mother-in-law says she will spend money to have Jim brought back, and will prosecute him in the courts for deserting her daughter.

Getting Ready for Thurman in New York.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—The arrangements for the reception of Judge Thurman in this city, and for the mass meeting to be held at Madison Square garden on September 6, are nearly completed. The speakers will be Governor Hill, of New York; Governor Green, of New Jersey; Governor Gray, of Indiana; ex-Lieutenant Governor Black, of Pennsylvania; Senators Voorhes, Blackburn and Kenna, Representative Patrick A. Collins and Judge Thurman. Arrangements are being made for meetings out of doors.

A Surprise for Miss Prentiss.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Collector Magone has received notice that a Miss Lizzie Prentiss is in England and France engaging women linen weavers, and that she would bring them to this country on the City of Chicago. These women, it is said, are destined for Auburn, N. Y. The collector at once notified the special agent and the surveyor's departments, and when the vessel arrives Miss Prentiss will be detained here pending an investigation. The weavers will not be permitted to land.

Sight Suddenly Restored.

LOCKPORT, N. Y., Sept. 1.—Mrs. Jennie Robinson, wife of William Robinson, a wagonmaker of Gasport, lost the sight of an eye recently, and the sight of the other was affected. She had the best medical aid, but without success. Her blindness dates from October, 1887, and came on suddenly. She awoke yesterday morning and found everything was bright, and plain before her. The sight of both eyes had been mysteriously restored.

In a Deploable State.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—The Times says: Affairs among the trunk lines have for many months been in a deplorable state of demoralization, and every effort to adjust differences and bring unruly lines under more complete subjection has met with a failure. So far has this state of existing demoralization gone that now there is no hope of reconciliation, no chance left for the signing of new agreements more binding than exploded ones. It is too late to mend—in a word the trunk line pool or association is doomed.

Protection, the Enemy of Wages.
Mr. Thomas G. Sherman in an article entitled "Protection, the Enemy of Wages," printed in a late number of Bedford's Magazine, says:

How can a tariff which spends its whole force in adding to the cost of manufacturing materials help to raise the wages of men engaged in working up these materials? How can it fall to reduce those wages? It deprives the manufacturer of ability to pay natural wages by making the cost of his materials so high that the margin between the cost and price which he can get for his goods is too small to leave him the power of paying high wages. If he raises the price of his productions to correspond with the cost of his materials, his market shrinks; and he cannot sell as many articles as he could at a lower price. The man who would have bought two suits of clothes in a year at $10 each must be contented with one, if it costs $20. The result is, obviously, that his tailor employs only half as many workmen as he would do if prices were lower. And no one needs to be told that, if the tailor could make his goods at half the price and thus employ twice as many workmen, he would have to pay higher wages whether he wanted to or not. It is never to the interest of workmen that prices should be high. Low prices in the long run mean a much greater sale of goods; and the wider the sale, the more numerous the articles made, and therefore the greater demand for men to make them.

These are only a small part of the reasons why a tariff always does and must reduce wages; but they are enough for the present. It is true that the tariff is not able entirely to overcome the national tendency of wages to rise, any more than it is able to prevent all imports from flowing in. The forces of nature are too strong for it. But it is only when the tariff fails to keep foreign goods out that it fails to keep home wages down. What the American workmen need, therefore, in order to secure to him higher wages is as near an approach to free trade as possible, (mind as near an approach as is safe), so that a flood of goods may come in, to be distributed among American workmen to pay them for making the flood of American goods which will then go out, instead of putting, as at present, a premium upon the importation of a flood of foreign paupers, to drive American workmen out of their employment at home.

Pertinent Questions.

Henry George, the great labor advocate, says: "Who are these benevolent individuals, so anxious to protect the poor, helpless workmen, so fearful lest American labor may fall to the level of the pauper labor of Europe?"

The coal barons and the factory lords, the iron and steel combinations, the timber ring, and the thousand trusts that, having secured the imposition of duties to keep out foreign productions, band themselves together to limit home production and to screw down the wages of their workmen. And are not these men who are so anxious, as they say, to protect you from the competition of "foreign pauper labor," the very men who are most ready to avail themselves of foreign labor?

Do you know of any protected employer, no matter how many millions he has made out of the tariff, who pays any higher wages to labor than he has to?

Is it not true that in all the protected industries wages are, if anything, lower than in the unprotected industries?

Is it not true that in all the protected industries workmen have been compelled to band themselves together to protect themselves; and that these protected industries are the industries notable above all others for their strikes, their lockouts, the bitter and oftentimes disastrous industrial wars that labor is compelled to wage to prevent being crowded to starvation rates? Are these the men whose protection you need?

Two Opinions.

General Master Workman Powderly of the Knights of Labor has the following to say of trusts:

"They are a menace to the welfare of the people of the country; they hinder free competition and smother it. The arm of the government should reach out and protect the people."

And here is what James G. Blaine the mouthpiece of the Republican party says of trusts:

"They are private affairs with which neither President Cleveland nor any private citizen has the right to interfere."

The Mountain Democrat is the name of a sprightly and new little paper just started at Paintsville. It is doing good work for Paynter.

JAMES G. BLAINE, when Secretary of the Treasury in 1881, said: "Undoubtedly the inequalities in the wages of English and American operatives are more than equalized by the greater efficiency of the latter and their longer hours of labor."

An Elegant Affair for the Little Folks.

Last Wednesday, handsome invitations were delivered to the friends of Miss Susie Huston Hall inviting them to a party to be given to her by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Hall, at their home on Third street. About one hundred invitations were issued, and at once society among the little folks was on tip-toe, for this was to be the last party before school began, and all knew that it would be an elegant affair.

At the appointed hour Friday evening, the little folks began to assemble and in a short time about eighty had gathered in the brilliantly-lighted parlors. Here they were warmly received by the sweet little hostess with all the ease of manner of a grand dame.

The parlors were beautifully arranged for the occasion. Vases of roses east their incense on the air, the lace curtains were looped up with bunches of roses, flowers were placed in windows and corners, but fairer than flowers, sweeter than roses, was the living bouquet of gaily dressed children who moved with innocent grace of childhood over the floor in the mazy figures of the dance.

From one side of the damask portiere that divided the two parlors a pair of satin owls gazed with wondering eyes on the scene, while from the other a gay butterfly shook her gauzy wings in sympathy with the merry hearts which, like herself, were enjoying the lovely springtime of life without thought of the frosts of winter. The floors had been covered with white holland for the dancers, the entire Maysville Orchestra furnished music for the occasion, and the exquisite dancing programmes given to each guest showed a list of lancers, waltzes, polkas and schottisches, in which the dainty little feet showed themselves quite as much at home as their elders. The front room was thus taken up with dancing, while in the back parlor the popular game of "Faba Baga" and other games were provided for those who did not care to dance. Two pure pleasures come to us all in life, one while yet we are children, the other in providing and watching the innocent sports of childhood, and no one could watch the bright faces, the sparkling eyes, the flying feet without thoroughly enjoying the scene. The little hostess with her two many little brothers, Jamie and Tommie, placed all at their ease, and gave themselves up to the enjoyment of their guests.

At 11 o'clock supper was announced, the band played a march and most of the assemblage moved to the dining room while others were seated at small tables. Sandwiches, coffee, several kinds of ice cream and endless variety of delicious cakes, bananas and grapes composed the repast which it is needless to say was highly enjoyed. After supper dancing and games were continued until after midnight, when the merry party satiated with pleasure, but loth to depart, said good-night and sought their homes.

Those present were: Misses Susie Hall, Fannie Frazee, Mamie Hooker, Nettie Robinson, Lucille Pearce, Hattie Johnson, Nita Pearce, Mary Huston January, Lida Rogers, Daisy Stanton, Mary Cox, Bettie Pearce, Katherine Tabb, Bessie Owens, Lida Pearce, Tolle Orr, Bertie Robinson, Allie Shackelford, Brownie Robinson, Hattie January, Ada Calhoun, Lizzie Newman Cox, Mary Burgess, Lutie Respass, Dora Hall, Alberta Glascock, Alice Beardsley, Allie Shackelford, Mary Hall, Lizzie Hall, Anna D. The Minstrels To-night.

Chas. W. Goodyear, the comedian and showman, is well and favorably known throughout the country. He has received the highest appreciation of his ability in comedy parts on all sides. He is styled "America's Goodyear," and justly does he deserve it. He is a Scotch County boy and this alone is a great recommendation. He has made the minstrel stage a study and his conception of a clean show, refined in every particular, has at last been wrought into a reality. It is a truthful saying, proudly displayed on the Goodyear, Cook & Dillon banner sheets. The company in its entirety forms a grand array of recognized artists. They made their initial bow at Marietta on the 24th, played at Parkersburg the 25th, Middletown the 26th, Gallipolis the 28th and Chillicothe the 29th. To-day they play at Ashland. Reports from the above places announce that it is a grand aggregation, giving a fine show—the finest ever witnessed. It is entirely new and original in all its features.—Portsmouth Daily Blade, Thursday.

At opera house to-night. Admission, 25, 35, 50 and 75 cents.

SERVICES at the M. E. Church to-morrow morning and night. Preaching by Rev. Thomas Hanford, pastor.

An Important Announcement

About six weeks ago, while at business, I was suddenly attacked with excruciating pains in my feet, knees and hands. So severe was the attack that I took my bed immediately, and in two or three days my joints were swollen to almost double their natural size, and sleep was driven from me. After suffering the most excruciating pain for a week, using liniments and various other remedies, a friend who sympathized with my helpless condition, said to me:

"Why don't you get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills? I will guarantee a cure, and if it does not the medicine shall cost you nothing."

I at once secured the S. S. S. and after using it the first day, had a quiet night and refreshing sleep. In a week I felt greatly relieved. In three weeks I could sit up and walk about the room, and after using six bottles I was out and able to go to business. Since then I have been regularly at my post of duty, and stand on my feet from nine to ten hours a day, and am entirely free from pain. These are the plain and simple facts in my case, and I will cheerfully answer all inquiries relative thereto, either in person or by mail.

A PIONEER GONE

Death of Peter S. Anderson at His Home in Dover, Yesterday.

Peter S. Anderson died yesterday morning about ten o'clock at his home in Dover. He had been in a feeble condition some time, and his family recognized several days ago that the end was near.

The deceased was eighty-six years of age, and was one of the pioneers of Mason County. He was a Virginian by descent but was a native of Mason, and spent the greater part of his life at Dover. At one time he was among the wealthiest citizens and largest slaveholders in the county, but the greater part of his fortune was swept away by the war.

His wife, who was Miss Mary Patton, of the Minerva neighborhood, survives him. He leaves six children—three sons Messrs. Leonard, Thomas and Lewis Anderson, and three daughters, Mrs. Elizabeth Osborne and Mrs. Amanda Dobyns. The latter is the wife of Mr. Arthur Dobyns, of the Fifth ward.

The funeral will probably take place this afternoon.

HAS A WAR ON HER HANDS

TROUBLE BREWING BETWEEN ENGLAND AND CHINA.

Thibet to Be the Bone of Contention.
Another Vain Attempt to Restore Harmony Between Milan and Natalie—King John Prepared to Resist Italy—Notes.

LONDON, Sept. 1.—There is not much doubt that England has a war on her hands of some magnitude. The lamas, or chiefs of Thibet, have made quite formidable preparations, when the nature of their frontier defenses, the Himalaya mountains, are considered. A representative of the Chinese emperor has arrived at Shassa, but it is hardly probable that his counsel will be followed by the lamas, now that the war spirit has been aroused and preparations been made.

Fifteen thousand men, whom ordinarily a few regiments of Indian regulars could route, are in command of the passes and resolved upon driving the small English force out of Sikkim, to which the lamas lay claim. A regiment of Gorkhas have gone forward from Darjeeling, the chief town on the southern border of Sikkim, to support the small army at the front. Fighting may be expected soon.

It is impossible for troops to winter on the uplands of northern Sikkim, and the necessity will be on the English to defeat the lamas, drive them from the mountain passes and spend the winter in Thibet. That is what the English will do, no doubt, but before it is done the Thibetans may be aroused to a warlike effort that will require more men and money to withstand than is now expected.

It is not impossible that China may come to the assistance of Thibet, for there is no doubt that the whole business is a piece of inexcusable aggression, and an attempt to force the Thibetans to trade with India. Thibet is a dependency of China, which exercises so few rights of sovereignty that it seems to be hardly remembered, from one decade to another, as a dependency. Yet China is accustomed to suddenly remember her rights of sovereignty, as the French found in Tongkin, and vindicate them with some vigor. That is the risk England is running, and she may suddenly find that she has a big thing on her hands.

Servia's King and Queen.

LONDON, Sept. 1.—Another ineffectual attempt has been made to reconcile King Milan and Queen Natalie of Servia. Those who essayed to perform the kind office of mediator thought that if an agreement of some kind, evens modus vivendi could be arranged between the warring couple before the actual suit for divorce was proceeded with the evil day might be delayed and perhaps a settlement effected. The determined rebuff with which the effort was met, however, has pretty well established the fact that this will be the last attempt of the kind made. Matters have progressed too far for even policy to dictate a reconciliation, and a legal separation is the only relief from matrimonial bonds that either can expect now.

From all appearances at present it seems as though the consistory at Belgrade would grant, as far as possible, a fair trial of the case, though of course the king will do all he can in his own capital to bend the suit in his favor.

The latest reports via Paris, declare that in obedience to the Servian law the queen will be allowed to appear before the consistory, in person, as Natalie demanded. This decision is extremely obnoxious to King Milan, who has every reason to fear his wife's presence in Belgrade. The report says that he cannot prevent the operation of this law, but must submit to the decision.

On this account it is thought that the trial will be delayed. It is, however, an assured fact that the people of Servia side with the queen rather than the king. The former is popular and the latter is exceedingly unpopular in his own country.

London Police Squabble.

LONDON, Sept. 1.—The metropolitan police force of London is about to lose some of its most efficient officers, owing to the management of Scotland Yard, the police headquarters. Sir Charles Warren, chief commissioner, who will be remembered for his peremptory commands during the Trafalgar square riots, is charged by his fellow officers with exercising his powers with too high a hand, and making it impossible for them to serve under him.

They complain that he is an autocrat and is rapidly destroying the efficiency of the service. Assistant Commissioner James Monroe has already resigned, and others will shortly send in their resignations. Mr. Monroe is one of the ablest men attached to Scotland Yard, and it was through his untiring efforts that the various plots of the dynamiters during the jubilee celebrations, and at other times, were foiled. There is much feeling about the retiring of these officers and it is not improbable that the home secretary may find that Sir Charles Warren is more available in some other position.

Sugar Bounty Convention Concluded.

LONDON, Sept. 1.—The sugar conference held its final meeting Thursday. The signatory powers are Great Britain, Germany, Austro-Hungary, Belgium, Spain, Italy, the Netherlands and Russia. Austria-Hungary, however reserves the right to examine the matter further, and France reserves the right to sign within six months. The convention provides for the abolition of bounties for the manufacture and exportation of sugar. England agrees not to impose different duties on cane and beet imports from the countries party to the convention. The countries signing the convention will exclude refined sugar, molasses and glucose coming from countries that have not signed the convention.

King John Ready to Fight.

LONDON, Sept. 1.—It is reported that the king of Abyssinia has massed his troops on the Crein tableland to resist a possible Italian invasion. In fact, there is not much doubt that the Italians will undertake military operations in Abyssinia this winter. The late dispatch of troops to Massowah can mean nothing else. It is important to her eventual success that she should have the border tribes her allies, and she must strike some blow to win their confidence in her strength. So far she has only suffered defeat.

Foreign Notes.

Emperor William, of Germany, is expected to arrive in Rome on October 6. The municipal authorities are making preparations for his reception, and will give a ball in his honor, to be held in the three palaces on Capitoline hill, which will be connected for the occasion.
